NUBBYTWIGLET.COM | 2008 and 2009 Corporate Identity Collateral

Nubbytwiglet.com is a full-service design agency specializing in logo development, corporate identity and editorial design. While the clients cover many industries, there is a particular niche in fashion-related businesses so the corporate collateral needed to be clean, classy and uncluttered. The goal was to create a high end boutique feel while still remaining accessible to clients.

HALO

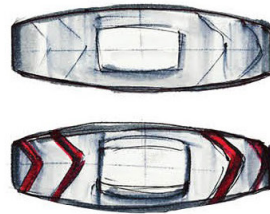

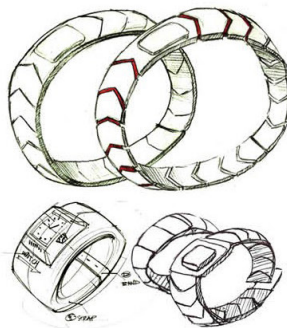

Keyless Entry Device

The problem: users hit the lock button several times without a real satisfying feel of security. "Honey, did I lock the car?"

Halo is a keyless remote device that uses a bracelet to give assurance that the car is locked without the need to check twice. Halo features a minimal single button that locks, unlocks and when held, opens the boot. Unlocked the halo is loose and reveals a red display that can't be missed, when locked it gently secures itself to the wrist and ensures that forgetting to lock the car is something that never happens again.

Early concept sketches

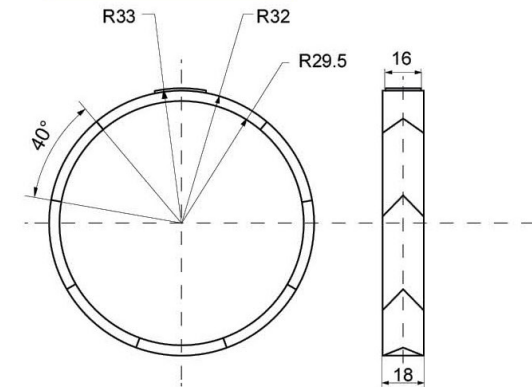

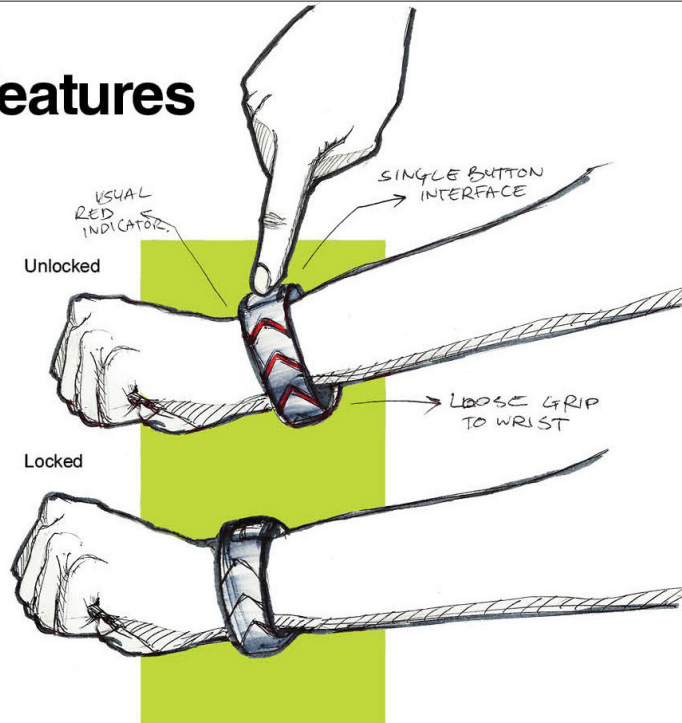

The function is not without form, the classy aesthetic of sports watches has been adapted to suit any occasion.

Designed as a piece of your outfit, the Halo is a piece of fashion and gives you control of your style.

Features

15m

The Halo only unlocks within proximity of the car ensure that accidentally unlocking the car while walking to the elevator never happens.

Personal Work

This Rugged mp3 design is a personal project. I constantly work on my own ideas and work to enhance my skillset in between projects. The design is inspired by G-shock products, wasps and other insects with exo-skeletons.

KC was designed to be an elite warrior who among other things specializes in rapid pursuit (motorcycle) and close quarters combat (knife specialty).

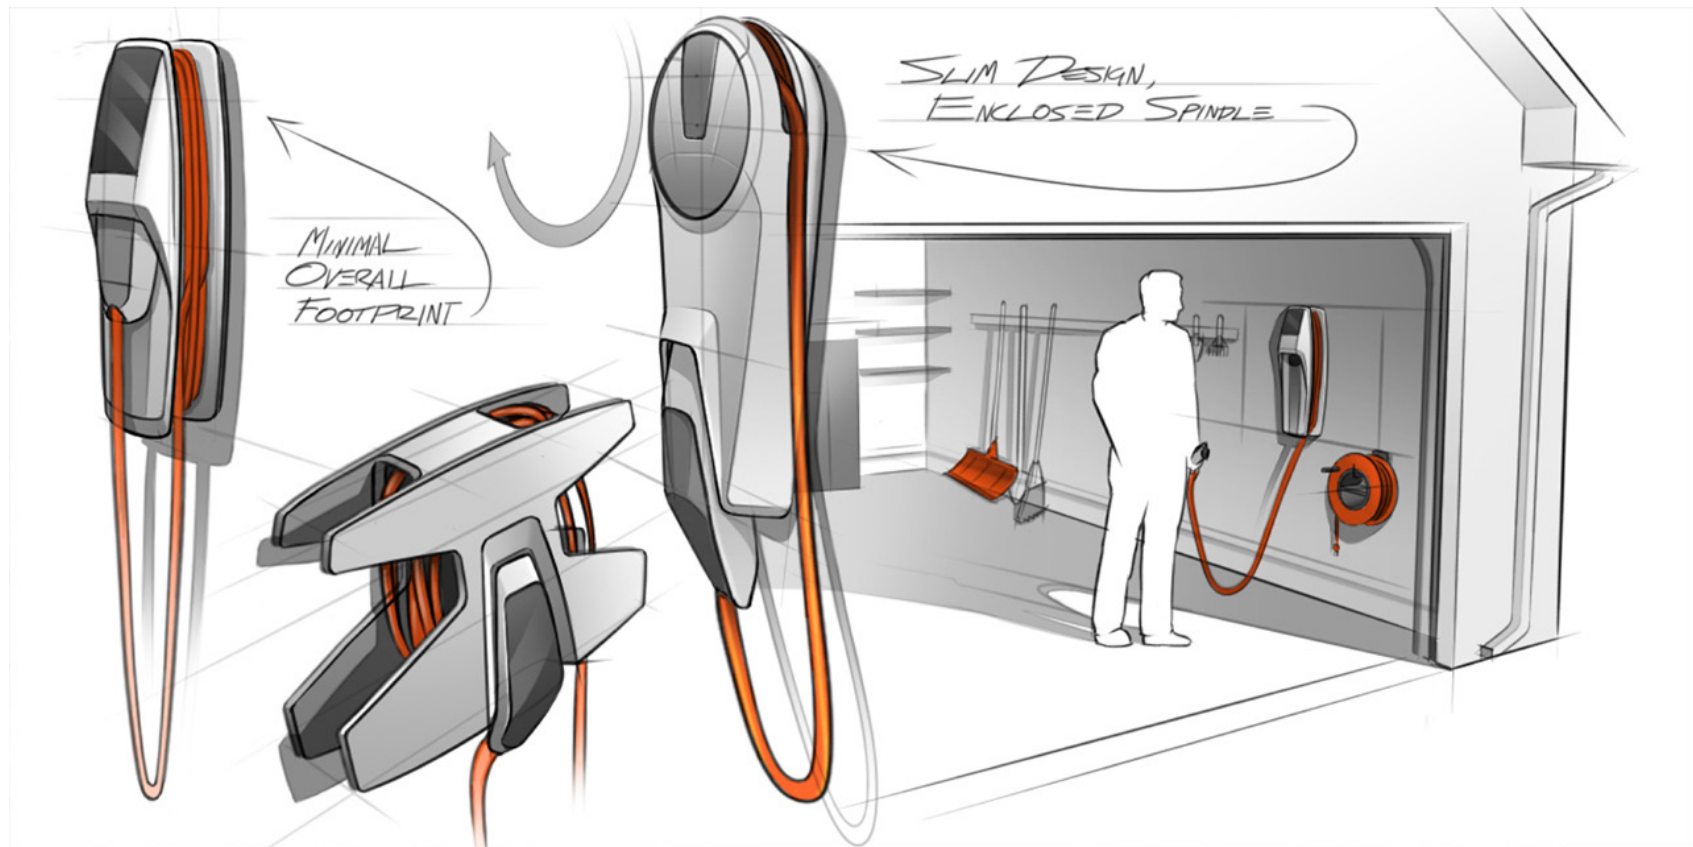

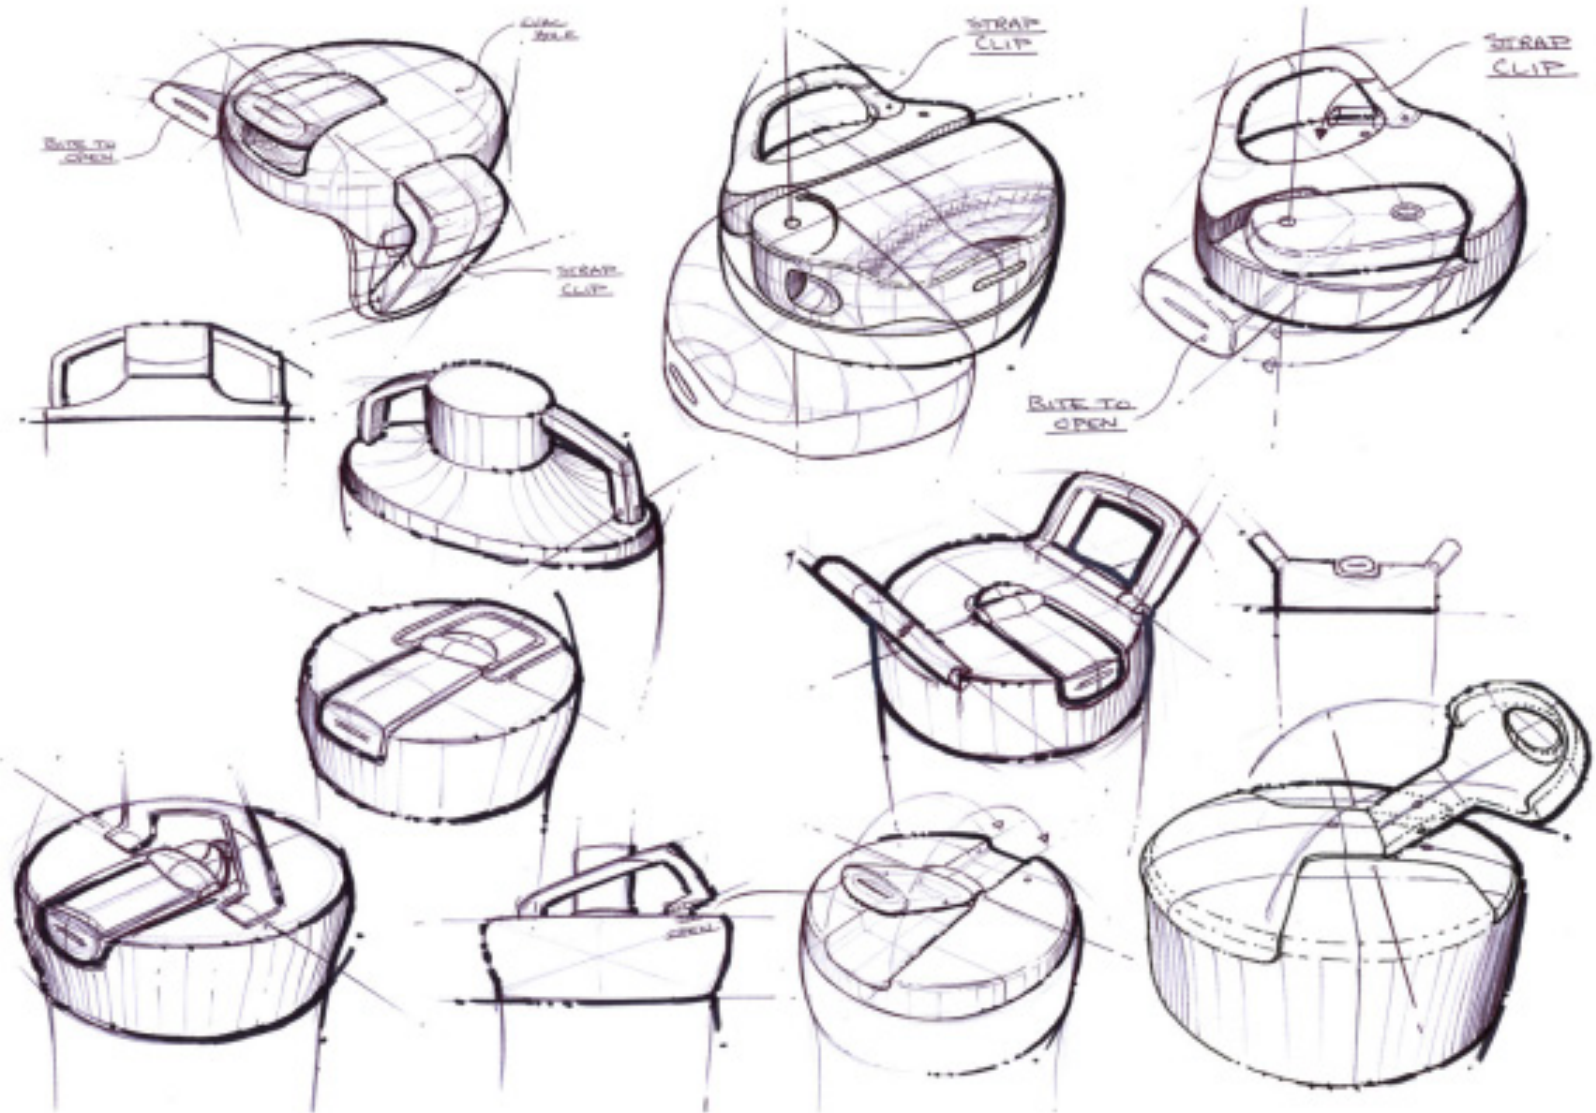

Assault rifle and sidearm ideations, the weapon features a gyroscope for added stabilization under any circumstances. It also features a rapid reload system with special clips that can carry multiple types of ammunition.
